Graduate Programs

The School of Education offers master's, specialist, and doctoral degrees. A general description of each degree is provided below. The MA program is a one- or two-year departmental curriculum for teachers who desire a combination of professional preparation and subject-matter specialization in their graduate study. A teaching certificate is required for graduation. Degrees are offered in the Department of Teaching and Learning.

MA Master of Arts. The MA program is a one- or two-year program beyond the bachelor's degree and is offered in all four departments of the School of Education.

EdS Educational Specialist. The EdS program builds upon the master's degree in providing a more focused program of study, generally taking a minimum of one year beyond the master's level.

EdD Requirements for graduate admission as listed on p. 38, applicants to the School of Education should note the following GRE requirements.

General Test taken within the last five years must be submitted. MA, MAT, and EdS students may be considered for provisional admission without these scores. MA and EdS students applying for the programs listed below must submit GRE scores before they are considered for any type of admission:

GENERAL ACADEMIC INFORMATION

Academic Advisement. A student's initial contact is with the department chair/program coordinator. Normally during the first semester of registration, a permanent advisor is selected. The advisor's major tasks are to counsel with the student about academic requirements and expectations, and to help develop a course plan which meets these requirements.

Student Responsibilities. Students are expected to know the regulations governing academic matters. This bulletin covers general questions relating to academic policies. Although the policies in this bulletin have the weight of faculty action, practice, and precedent, special circumstances may occasionally warrant an exception. In such circumstances, students may use the petition process coordinated by the Graduate Programs Office, Room 164.

Procedures to follow in meeting the degree requirements are detailed in the handbooks which have been prepared for the master's, specialist, and doctoral programs.
