

INTERNATIONAL OPPORTUNITIES

Each year, students from 80-100 different countries enroll at Andrews University. More than 20% of the students come from other countries. This places the university among the top level of small American universities with high percentages of international students. One experiences the reality of a multicultural world while attending college.

Students who wish to immerse themselves fully in American culture may enroll in the English as a Second Language (ESL) program of Adventist Colleges Abroad (ACA) on the Andrews campus.

The Institute of Church Ministry (ICM), an entity of the Theological Seminary, shares the expertise and resources of Andrews University with the Seventh-day Adventist Church in North America, thus aiding denominational leaders in the accomplishment of its goals. The ICM serves as the North American Division Strategic Resource Center but also works for the General Conference, local conferences, local churches, and Adventist journals.

The work of ICM springs from the belief that the tools of social science can join with biblical and theological insights to advance the objectives of the church. Its mission is conducted through field-based research concerning Adventist youth, lay-member involvement, training for ministry, church growth, church-giving patterns, Adventist women in leadership, Adventist Hispanics, and the attitudes of Adventist members on various issues.

The Institute of Hispanic Ministry (IHM) of the Theological Seminary responds to the growing needs of Hispanic congregations in North America and beyond.

The tasks of the IHM include providing graduate-level study for Hispanic pastors both on and off campus and assisting in various ways a continuing education for Hispanic ministers. It coordinates the Hispanic MA in Pastoral Ministry and supports Hispanic courses in the MDiv and DMin programs. The IHM also provides support systems for Hispanic ministry and churches that are in transition culturally and linguistically. It encourages research and the dissemination of its findings for the Seventh-day Adventist Church at large.

Jews and Seventh-day Adventists share much of the same spiritual heritage and the same ideals of hope and lifestyle. Moreover, since the events of Auschwitz during World War II, Jewish-Christian issues have become a relevant part of theological concern. Therefore, the Institute of Jewish-Christian Studies organizes meetings with world renowned experts, provides a wide range of educational material, and supplements the graduate programs of the Seminary with concentrations in Jewish-Christian studies. These include courses in Jewish History, rabbinics, and languages. In all its work, the Institute seeks to train lay persons and ministers to foster constructive relations with Jews in their communities and to develop a global consciousness in all outreach and service.

The James White Library holds book, print, and electronic collections totaling more than 1.2 million volumes and provides study and research facilities. Its strongest collections are in religion, education, architecture, and Seventh-day Adventist publications and resources. Periodical resources in print and electronic formats total over 10,000 titles. The library's computerized catalog, JeWeL, can be accessed through the campus electronic network as well as globally through Internet. Many major electronic databases are available through Internet. Through the Michigan Library Consortium, the library has access to the Online Computer Library Center for cataloging, inter-library-loan information, and other services based on data from over 50 million entries.

The Center for Adventist Research is located in the main library. An Architecture Resource Center and a Music Materials Center are located in their respective buildings on campus.

The Center for Adventist Research contains historical materials and resources on Seventh-day Adventist history and Ellen G. White, a key founder of the Seventh-day Adventist denomination. Comprising the Adventist Heritage Center, the Ellen G. White Estate Branch Office, and AU Archives, the Center holds the largest collection of research materials on Seventh-day Adventism in the world. The Center was formed in the fall of 2003 by integrating the three entities to better serve the campus community as well as the world community of Seventh-day Adventists by providing research support services as well as a significant outreach component.

Located within the Center for Adventist Research, the Adventist Heritage Center contains material on the history and development of the Millerite Movement and the Seventh-day Adventist Church since the 1840s. Among the materials preserved at the Center are over 50,000 books and pamphlets, 20,000 periodical volumes, 12,500 microforms, 4,300 sound recordings, and 1,300 video tapes. A sizeable number of the periodicals are non-English motion and picture films and represent the finest collection of its kind in the world including many one-of-a-kind titles. The Center holds over 200 collections (800 linear feet) of personal papers of notable church figures such as pioneers, administrators, teachers, ministers, and missionaries. These collections provide a wide range of primary source documents. The center's archives contains 30,000 photographs of denominational and campus interest, an obituary file of nearly 200,000 names, and the records of early Adventist congregations. The SDA Periodical Index is located at the Center.

Special collections of the Heritage Center include the Advent Source and the Conditional Immortality Source Collections which document the origins of Seventh-day Adventists, the development of prophetic interpretation, and the history of the doctrine of conditional immortality. The George B. Suhrie Bible Collection features an extensive collection of Bibles. Rare materials include books dating as early as the 15th century, and several original editions of Martin Luther and other Reformer's pamphlets. The Voice of Prophecy and Faith for Today historical archives also are located at the center.

The Adventist Heritage Center also serves as the home for the Andrews University Archives and Records Center. The holdings number hundreds of cubic feet of historical and significant records of the University dating back to 1874 to the present.

Located within the Center for Adventist Research, the Ellen G. White Estate Branch Office contains a complete set of the letters and manuscripts of Ellen G. White (1827-1915). It also has copies of her books and published articles, and thousands of pages of other documents related to the history and development of the Adventist Church.

The Branch office houses numerous resources for students interested in research. The most important of these are (1) the Letter and Manuscript File of 60,000 pages with topical index; (2) the Ellen G. White published writings on compact disc (CD-ROM), making possible computer searches of Mrs. White's writings; (3) a Biographical Index covering the span of Ellen White's life and documenting her travels and activities; (4) 1,600 Manuscript Releases (with indexes); (5) an extensive Document File covering many aspects of the writings of Ellen White and of the history of the Seventh-day Adventist Church; (6) a Question- and-Answer File with index; (7) a Microfiche File of out-of-print, Seventh-day Adventist literature.

University Center for Reading, Learning, and Assessment
Building 013 471-3480

The University Center for Reading, Learning, and Assessment addresses learning and reading-skill needs through college classes and tutoring. It helps students to strengthen their God-given abilities and natural gifts. Academic assessment and tutoring services of the center are available to Andrews students, faculty, staff, and community for a fee. Students with learning problems are nurtured towards the goal of successful course work.

Reading skills developed in the center include speed reading, study reading, vocabulary, word recognition or decoding skills, spelling, and handwriting. Students, faculty, and staff may use equipment and materials for personal reading improvement on a self-help basis for a fee. Average to excellent readers as well as those having difficulty with reading are served.

The center offers a college class that covers memory, learning styles, time management, temperament, mind style, and emotional condition. A follow-up class includes coordination with advisors, teachers, and staff to help the student and provide individualized and small-group support.

Writing Center

The Writing Center provides students with individualized instruction by fellow students on basic writing skills and strategies. Services of the center include computer-assisted tutorial sessions, drop-in help, and a library of rhetoric and usage texts. The Writing Center also offers occasional review sessions on general writing problems.

With authorization from the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools and other controlling organizations, the various schools of the university have entered into official academic affiliation/extension arrangements with certain educational institutions in North America and abroad. The programs consist of a variety of arrangements ranging from academic monitoring of existing institutional programs to using institutions as extension campuses or examination centers for graduate and undergraduate education, with degrees being conferred upon students at the next official Andrews University graduation at the main campus and after completion and verification by the Records Office of all degree requirements. The affiliation/extension programs vary from courses offered in a variety of disciplines to full degree programs.

The Affiliation and Extension Programs Committee authorizes and reviews all university policies related to affiliation and extension programs. The administrative and academic committees charged with academic quality control and relevant policy development also govern the extension programs. Financial policies as described in this bulletin are applicable to extension programs in North America. All credits earned in Andrews extension programs are valid on the Andrews campus or any accredited extension campus. Once accepted into an Andrews program, students may transfer between home and extension campuses.

Undergraduate Affiliation Programs

Undergraduate affiliation programs are offered at Helderberg College, South Africa; Caribbean Union College, Trinidad; and Newbold College, England. Andrews University confers approved associate and baccalaureate degrees on those students who have fulfilled admission, academic, and program requirements at these centers.

Graduate Affiliation and Extension Programs

The College of Arts and Sciences offers courses leading to the MMus (Music Education) degree at Montemorelos University, Mexico, and the MS (Human Nutrition) degree at several sites in the United States.

The School of Business offers the MBA degree in Trinidad.

The School of Education offers the MA degree at Newbold College, England, and Spicer Memorial College, India. It also offers a graduate certificate in educational psychology at Caribbean Union College, Trinidad.

The Seventh-day Adventist Theological Seminary offers the MA (Religion) at Babcock University, Nigeria; Romanian Adventist Theological Institute, Romania; Spicer Memorial College, India; and Zaoski Adventist Seminary, Russia. It offers the MA in Pastoral Ministry at Babcock University, Nigeria.

The Seminary also offers the Doctor of Ministry degree for the Trans-European Division at Newbold College, England.

In North America, the Seminary offers the MA in Pastoral Ministry degree and courses toward the Master of Divinity and Doctor of Ministry degrees at several locations.

In addition, the School of Graduate Studies offers the MSA degree (International Development) at five sites: Bolivia, Columbia, Italy, Kenya, and the Ukraine.

Adventist Colleges Abroad

Andrews University co-sponsors Adventist Colleges Abroad—a program in which qualified students study overseas while completing requirements for graduation at Andrews. This language and cultural immersion is available in nine locations: Argentina, Austria, Brazil, France, Greece, Italy, Singapore, Spain, and Taiwan. Participation is not limited to language majors. Contact the chair of the Department of International Language Studies for further information.

Undergraduate students may study abroad in the Andrews University Year in England at Newbold College program. The purpose of this program is to allow students to participate in a culturally enriching academic experience. Information about this program can be secured by writing Newbold College or contacting the Director of Affiliation and Extension Programs at Andrews University. Students should make application directly to the Admissions Office, Newbold College, Binfield, Bracknell, Berkshire, England RG42 4AN.
